B. CITY COUNCIL CALENDAR UPDATE

City Clerk Blackston reviewed the weekly calendar (filed).

C. TOPIC(S)

C-1 "General review of labor contracts"

Human Resources Director Narloch explained that she selected the Lodi Police Dispatchers Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) to review for example purposes because the City is not currently in negotiations with this group. Negotiations are presently underway with four bargaining units and two were recently completed.

Ms. Narloch stated that the fundamental issues covered in an MOU are:

- Recognition clause – official recognition of what the bargaining unit is, what classifications are covered under the unit, and what organization (association or union) represents the individuals;
- Management rights clause;
- Employee representation section;
- Term clause;
- Grievance procedure; and
- Discipline procedure.

Other areas typically covered in an MOU are hours of work, conditions, and circumstances under which overtime is to be paid. The Fair Labor Standards Act dictates that overtime will be paid to employees who work over 40 hours in a week.

City Manager Flynn interjected that the State of California's policy stipulates that overtime is to be paid if an employee works more than eight hours in a day.

Ms. Narloch explained that in negotiating an MOU ground rules are set, which typically involve where and when negotiations will take place, who will be at the table during negotiations, and time off that will be given to employees for this purpose. She commented on the following components of an MOU:

- Probationary status – a time period, typically 12 months, in which the employee is "at-will"; during this time they are evaluated on a quarterly basis;
- Seniority – in the case of dispatcher's, seniority is used for choosing a shift; it is also used as priority for choosing vacations, and is considered for layoffs;
- Work rules – this may include a no-strike clause;

- Salary provision – includes cost of living increases, equity adjustments, and benefits;
- Safety – typically involves the agency's commitment to providing a safe work environment;
- Zipper clause – means that there is no obligation on the part of either party to engage in collective bargaining on any issue that is not addressed in the particular document;
- Other compensation – incentive for bilingual pay, performance bonus incentives, uniform allowance, etc.;
- Retirement and benefits; and
- Rules that discuss the hiring process and how one could expect to engage in promotions.

Ms. Narloch stated that the MOU works in conjunction with other City documents such as Rules for Personnel Administration and the Administrative Policy and Procedure manual.

Mayor Pro Tempore Howard asked whether there were a large number of overtime hours accrued for employee representatives to participate in negotiations, to which Ms. Narloch stated that there were not.

In answer to questions posed by Mayor Hitchcock, Ms. Narloch reported that to determine proficiency for bilingual pay, employees are tested by an instructor at Delta College who certifies them to the City if they successfully pass the examination. She explained that any deviation from an eight-hour day is typically brought up as a result of the type of work activity that is being done. As examples, the garage maintenance workers found that working at night allowed them to have vehicles ready for operation the following day, and the street maintenance crews and Parks and Recreation staff work earlier in the morning during the summer months to avoid the heat. Police Captain Manetti reported that the dispatchers work 12-hour days to allow them more time off to rest from the stresses of the job and still have an adequate number of employees to cover the shifts. Police Officers work 10-hour days to allow the department to place more officers on the street during peak times. Ms. Narloch explained that employees can elect to have paid overtime or compensatory time. If they designate compensatory time it is irrevocable and must be used as time off; however, they are allowed opportunities to cash it out in May and November. Compensatory time typically has a cap of 80 hours. The performance incentive bonus was developed as part of the police officers MOU for meritorious performance above and beyond what is expected of them. An equity adjustment on an incremental basis was provided to Community Service Officers to bring them up to the mean of the salary survey done at the time of negotiations.

Mayor Pro Tempore Howard stated that it is helpful for Council to have a complete contract available at the time it has specific negotiations with a bargaining group. She suggested that when this is done in the future, Council be provided with a copy of the contract including any updated documents and attachments indicating changes that have occurred over time.

In reply to further questioning by Mayor Hitchcock, Ms. Narloch explained that dispatchers are not paying $20 per month for dependent health insurance coverage as indicated in the MOU because the health plan changed to CalPERS and it was agreed that everyone would be made the same relative to this process. Ms. Narloch indicated that she would provide Council with a definition of the 1957 survivor benefit. She explained that "permanent and stationary" rating of an employee is a Workers Compensation term, which means that they will not get any better or any worse. It is the end of the process and a determination is made at that time whether the person retires from City service or engages in vocational rehabilitation through the Workers Compensation program. In the listing of City Rights on page 18, Ms. Narloch indicated that contracting or subcontracting out work is generally the most contentious during negotiations. She acknowledged that discipline procedures were not included in the dispatchers MOU; however, this will be corrected in the future.

Continued April 8, 2003

City Manager Flynn clarified that the intent of the seniority language on page 27 was not to penalize an employee who must leave City service temporarily due to a military service draft or national emergency.
